WASHINGTON HILTON | WASHINGTON, DC | JUNE 22-25, 2020

Managing Ambulatory Health Care I: Introductory Course for Clinicians in Health Centers (MAHC 1) is the first in a series of four Managing Ambulatory Health Care (MAHC) training courses offered by the National Association of Community Health Center (NACHC).

This four day course goes beyond the basics of being a new clinical director in a Federally Qualified Community Health Centers (FQHC). MAHC 1 focuses on skills that are essential to today's health center environment. You will learn specific management skills that can help address the increasing need to generate tangible results which support the move to value-based care including:

- > Financial Management
- > The Enhanced Role of the Clinical Director (Medical, Nursing, Dental, Behavioral Health, etc.)
- > Clinical Operations
- > Productivity Management
- > Performance Compensation

“I finally understand the basics of our monthly and annual financial statements.”

Learning Objectives

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:

- > Read income statements and balance sheets to improve their ability to participate in financial decisions at the health center.
- > Develop an understanding of how to improve a number of common operational issues faced by community health centers.
- > Develop an awareness of the political environment of health centers; learn crucial strategies to develop their leadership role within their community.

Continuing Education Credit

The National Association of Community Health Centers (NACHC) provides continuing education credits through the American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP). This educational activity is typically approved for up to a maximum of 21.75 AAFP CME credits. Certificates of Completion, including CME credit information will be presented at the end of the completed course. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity. (<http://www.aafp.org/cme/creditsys/about/t2p.html>)
